Your challenges...

... "Which (environmental) labels must be applied to our products, our packaging, ...?"

... "How do we deal with national and international labeling, and informational requirements?"

... "What information do we have to communicate to our customers with regard to environmental and sustainability aspects? And: how do we do this at best?"

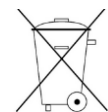

... "What does the "European Green Deal" actually mean for us as a company? Are we prepared for the future?"

Here is the answer...

... the NovaLoop Concept Consulting:

We advise and support small and medium-sized companies in improving the environmental performance of their products: this way products get a real "added value"!

We help you meet your legal market access requirements and contractual obligations. NovaLoop's core competence is the tailor-made set-up and implementation of strategies that are sustainable and viable for the future.

We base our comprehensible concepts on our more than 40 years of interdisciplinary and cross-sectoral consulting experience. Our work results in an efficient and sustainable process that fits into your existing corporate structures and supports the marketability of your products today and in future.

LIFE – Labeling, Information & Fees

Complex and detailed regulations that require labeling and information means a high effort for companies. Obligations for companies derive from (inter-) national laws, customer specifications and information - depending on the vertical degree of manufacturing - that is difficult to obtain in the supply chain, and covers a broad range of ever-expanding requirements.

Nevertheless, specifications on environmental performance, regulated material, environmental costs and eco-design aspects are mandatory requirements for a successful market access.

NovaLoop LIFE modules help you to identify individual labeling and information requirements for your product portfolio!
